There are some coaches who make an impact in a team, and others who just don't. When you have a good coach, he sets the direction for your team, he tells you where to be, what to do. If you don't have a good coach, you end up doing things because it's what you're supposed to do, or, if you're lucky, because someone tells you to do it. You can't get much further than that.” — Jim Rutherford, Director of Player Personnel, Carolina Hurricanes Carolina Hurricanes have hired Simon Gagne as a new assistant coach for the 2019-20 season, it was announced today by Executive Vice President and General Manager Ron Francis. Gagne has played in the NHL since 2000-01 and has spent his entire professional career with the Carolina Hurricanes, including the 2014-15 season, which saw him earn his first career Stanley Cup ring after Carolina's run to the Cup Final. In 2018-19, Gagne skated in 77 regular season games for the Hurricanes, tallying 11 goals and 17 assists for 28 points, while he added four goals and six assists for 10 points in 16 playoff games. Prior to joining the Hurricanes, Gagne skated for the New York Rangers from 2006-14 82157476af
